

THEATRE, BRADFORD.

MR. SMEDLEY,

Having found a difficulty in retaining his old performers or in forming engagements with new ones of talent for a Theatre, where the Prices put them on a level with a Booth (a thing which he never anticipated), is forced into the necessity of either advancing them to the scale of other provincial Theatres, or submit to have an inferior Company; the latter he is quite assured the Inhabitants of Bradford have no right to be satisfied with, a town which is second to none for its encouragement of all institutions by which society can be benefited, and that society may, nay must, be benefitted by the amusements of a well-conducted Theatre, he dares to affirm without fear of contradiction. Convinced of this, he has engaged a very numerous and effective Company, not doubting that if their talent is found equal to others, they will be considered entitled to equal remuneration.

The Prices in future will be the same as at Leeds, Doncaster, Wakefield, Huddersfield, &c. viz.
Boxes, 3s.—Pit 2s.—Gallery 1s. Children under Twelve Years of Age, admitted at the commencement to the Boxes, 1s. 6d.—Pit, 1s.—Gallery, 6d.
